

("iqbal was trying to go to sleep and suddenly his tummy rumbles ")

fahim:

oh my. i am hungry

harris:

yeah. me too

ammar:

well, i guess i am here to make sure the scene did not become to overly dramatic....

iqbal:

hey can you guys just ignore the hunger and just go to sleep? we have important meeting tomorrow

harris:

okay...

("all of them try to sleep but the tummy rumbles again")

ammar:

maybe we should get something to eat...

fahim:

yeah!!!-

iqbal:

-no. it is 1 in the morning and our budget is tight. and plus, didn't we have like a heavy dinner last night, harris?

harris:

let me see.... ouh, yeah. we have 3 packets of instant noodles

ammar:

okay.... that's a total carb loading....

iqbal:

yeah. that's why we should not have a midnight snack. now, everyone,
sleep-

fahim:

-no! i want some snacks!

iqbal:

fahim.... not this again-

fahim:

please!!!!

ammar:

fahim.....

fahim:

just some small snacks and maybe a sandwich.... we have that 7eleven coupon that we try to claim, right?! we can use that!-

iqbal:

FAHIM! ENOUGH!

("the mindscape goes quite")

iqbal:

all you want to do is snacks, snacks, snacks! if we snack now, we will be awake for at least 30 more minutes. and our budget is really tight right now.

you wanna know why?

because the past 3 days we have been binge eating and snacking like we own the 7eleven stores!!! why are you being like this? i am currently in the phase of burned out right now.

you should not make us- make me feel this way and add more coal to the anger's burning firepit. could you explain yourselves the reasons behind this?!

fahim:

i-.... i just want to make you happy. and reward you on the little things that we have achieved....

("iqbal gone quite and memories of past events come flooding")

fahim:

we have successfully manage our mood and emotions in the office. we have use profasional words and not profanity when talking to our supervisor. and you and fadzil and jonathan have control your emotions in classes really well.

i-... i-... just want to celebrate that. i afraid you might forget to cherish those little moments. and maybe with these little appreciation, the stress you were having might decrease a little

harris:

fahim do have a good point.

iqbal:

oh no... i am terribly-

fahim:

but it's okay if you don't want to celebrate now. maybe my timing is off. we can always try tomorrow...

("ammar looks at iqbal and waiting for his answer")

iqbal:

look-... i-.... okay, i am really sorry for lashing out to you guys.
i can see you have all of the best intention for me. maybe i do owe you guys and some apologies and thank.

but right now, we have a very important meeting tomorrow. and, i just really burned out from the money usage and all. you are right fahim; i do forget to celebrate those little moments.

and thanks; for reminding me to appreciate life - well, in one way or the other.

but now, can we skip the celebration to maybe,,, 2 days from now? or maybe after the meeting tomorrow?

ammar:

aren't like, the meeting is just you listening to the higher ups updates and stuff? we just there to fill the quota. and plus, you know how they are 'melayu' right? maybe we can spare this night for a quick celebration

harris:

and plus, we do have reached the achievement that we always dreamed off yesterday. and we have coupons. so.....

iqbal:

alright. we can maybe go late for tomorrow's meeting. and fahim, you lead the way to 7eleven

("fahim wipe his tears and dress up to go to 7eleven")

Click the letter P